LEADER OF IRON BRIGADE

PASSES HIS 80TH MILE
POST AND STILL HEARTY

GENERAL BRAGG'S CAREER

Famous Leader of "Iron
Brigade Receives Congratulations

Fond Du Lac, Wis., Feb. 20.—The fellow-townsmen of General Edward S. Bragg paid him a splendid tribute today on the occasion of his 80th birthday. The famous leader of the "Iron Brigade" was obliged to keep open house throughout the day to receive the scores of friends who called to offer their congratulations in person. In addition there came to the "Little General" a veritable flood of good wishes from old friends and admirers throughout the country.

Despite his fourscore years General Bragg is still active and full of energy and continues to take a lively interest in all public questions of the day. Since returning last summer from his post as consul at Hong Kong he has lived quietly at his home in this city.

Few men have given more varied or distinguished service to their state and country than has General Bragg during the half century that has elapsed since he came to Wisconsin from his native state of New York. He has been conspicuous not only as a soldier but as a lawyer, statesman and diplomat.

Distinguished as have been his services in congress, in the state legislature, as a diplomat, as a lawyer, and an orator, it is chiefly his gallant leadership of the famous "Iron Brigade" that General Bragg chiefly owes his fame.

He began his military career as a captain of volunteers soon after President Lincoln's call for soldiers in the spring of 1861. His regiment, the Sixth Wisconsin, left for Washington in the middle of the summer and by the time it had been whipped into shape and was ready for real campaigning Captain Bragg had been appointed to the grade of lieutenant-colonel. He had command of the regiment from Gainesville, Va., to Antietam, Md. He led it in the charge up South Mountain, in which conflict the brigade was given its memorable name.

At Antietam General Bragg was seriously wounded and was sent home to Fond du Lac to recover. He was soon back in the field again and took part in the battle of Fredericksburg. After Chancellorsville he was again stricken down and taken to a hospital in Washington. When the Gettysburg campaign was commenced, though utterly unfit for service, General Bragg insisted upon going to the front, but did not reach Gettysburg in time to take part in the battle. It was the only great battle of the "Iron Brigade" except the closing contests ending at Appomattox, in which he did not lead his regiment.

Though a life long Democrat, a leader in his party, a party leader in Congress and in the state senate, a candidate for attorney-general, twice the nominee for United States senator, General Bragg declined to accept the Chicago platform and candidate, and made many telling speeches for Palmer and Buckner, the gold Democratic candidates for president and vice president, and in 1906 he was a earnest supporter of Pres. McKinley. The latter appointed General Bragg council general to Havana, from which post he was later transferred to Hong Kong.

KEOKUK FALLS TO BE ABANDONED

The town of Keokuk Falls which lies so close to the line that it barely escapes being located in the Seminole nation, is to be abandoned. In fact, the change of a mile eastward would put the town in the Creek nation; a mile to the south would land it in the Seminole nation, while in truth it occupies a corner between the two in the Potawatomie county. The meanderings of the North Canadian river are responsible for the peculiar location of the town. The stream is the line between Oklahoma and both nations, and also between the two nations, and thus are created corners or jettings of land in each of the three political divisions.

THE CENTRA COMPANY, 11 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY.

1892, the site of Keokuk Falls was chosen for a new town. It was then believed that it would become a great manufacturing center, for the reason that a mammoth falls in the river at that place would furnish power in abundance. Every indication was that it would grow into a good big town, but for some reason the factories did not materialize, and during its existence it has become more famous as a rendezvous for bootleggers who ply their trade among the redskins across the river. A saloon located in the town has done a prosperous business since the first days, and the saloon, in fact, has been the principal feature of the place.

Now, however, a new railroad is building, and as it does not tend toward Keokuk Falls, it is necessary for the people of Keokuk Falls to "trek" toward the location of the new town. This they will do, taking their buildings with them. The new town is located a mile west of the present site of Keokuk Falls, thus placing the location more certainly in Potawatomie county than it is located today.

DYNAMITE IN COAL CAR

Narrow Escape for New Coal Chutes This Morning

Special to Daily Leader.

El Reno, Okla., Feb. 19.—The workmen at the new coal chutes had quite a scare this morning and a narrow escape from being blown to atoms.

C. R. I. and P. car 77861 loaded with coal from Wilburton was to be dumped into the coal chute. When the workmen started to unload the coal a bundle of twelve sticks of dynamite which some miner had carelessly dropped into the car was found. Had this been carried up in the hoists and dumped into the pocket there would have been an explosion that would have demolished the fine coal chute and undoubtedly caused loss of life.

The coal chutes were erected by the Fairbanks Morse Co. of Chicago, at a cost of $17,500 and were only recently turned over to the railway company.

Thomas Gibbons, under sentence to serve 99 years in the Lansing penitentiary for the murder of Thurston C. Renfro and a man by the name of Flowman, on July 13, 1906, today perfected his appeal to the Oklahoma supreme court. M. C. Reddington and Gibbons were jointly indicted by the territorial grand jury at Anadarko on November 21, 1905, but on April 12, 1906, the indictment against Reddington was dismissed on motion of County Attorney Vaughn. It was shown conclusively that Reddington was not present when the killing was done.

Byers, of Chicago, and John Lewis, alias Henry Williams of New Orleans, were given three years in the pen for picking pockets here on Ringling circus day last. October Williams, an old gray bearded ex-Confederate soldier and made a dramatic plea to the court saying that he cared not for himself "as there are only a few more years in this old shell" and asked for clemency for his partner, McGuire, who has a family of eight in Chicago dependent upon him for support. Both are well known in the criminal world of the southwest.

White is an old time cow puncher of the old Keras and Coleman ranch of the Ponca reservation. Some years ago he shot up the town of Red Rock, was arrested for taking whisky into the Otoe reservation and jumping his bond skipped for Mexico. About four months ago he returned and took a horse that was tied on the south side of the square and started south. Going through Payne county he purchased several head of stock of farmers, paying for them with Confederate bills, getting good corn for the difference in change. He left the stock to be called for later. The local officers kept track of him which finally led to his apprehension.

Ernest Patty, a shrewd young German lad of 15, has been bound over to the district court for passing a bad check on a local business firm.
